The main reason for the plantation was to spread awareness and importance about tree plantation within all. And save environment as we can. Trees have so many good qualities in them which makes them nature's most useful gift but their best quality is their ability to provide oxygen that is very essential for human survival. Some of the advantages of planting trees are that they provide food, protection, and homes for many birds and mammals. People must understand the importance of planting trees and how it helps our environment in so many ways. Trees are often associated with feeling pleasant, calm, and relaxed. Planting trees can also help people become better versions of themselves as it would not only make them feel accomplished but also would be helping to protect our environment.
